Cartus corporate clients to receive exclusive benefit of Global Education Explorer Backpack web tool.

(White Plains NY, January 2009) – Cartus corporate clients will receive the ‘Backpack’, a web tool within Global Education Explorer, through an exclusive partner agreement. Global Education Explorer, a new innovation from School Choice International, is a web based resource comparing educational systems across the globe. The tool enables families or corporations to quickly and conveniently contrast curricula, assessments and customs between home and relocating countries before, during or after any relocation assignment.

Global Education Explorer encompasses all aspects of education - including academic content, country specific information on education and academic planning, and traditions such as what to wear to school, how holidays are celebrated and what gifts are appropriate to give teachers. Cartus clients will automatically receive the first level of Global Education Explorer, the ‘Backpack’, a comprehensive web based personal organizer for choosing and applying to the best schools. Some of the components of the backpack include: printable criteria lists for researching and evaluating schools, checklists for completing applications, interview tips, questions parents may be asked during interviews, expert tips for choosing schools and repatriating, topical articles, Ask the Expert question and answers and School Choice’s fun and informative educational Fact of the Week. These tools are universal, and will assist families moving anywhere in the world.

Expatriate parents worry about their children’s education and adjustments, both major stressors in any relocation or repatriation. Accurate ‘what parents need to know’ information on admissions, selection, educational customs and global education tools can make all the difference to a successful transition. Cartus has been a pioneer in the education and relocation arena, realizing the need to offer its corporate clients and their families the best possible educational placement services for many years. In these challenging economic times, especially recognizing that 53% of assignees still have children, and 90% of assignees that turn down assignments because of family concerns, Cartus recognizes that information is another cost-effective solution for families in transition. School Choice International's Global Education Explorer Backpack is an invaluable tool to offer families that are concerned about their children's education during an assignment.

Partnering with School Choice International was a natural decision since School Choice was recently awarded Cartus' Global Network Commitment to Excellence Gold award for its exceptional service results. This award is presented to the Global Network service provider who demonstrates excellent knowledge, principles, trust, and service, as selected by Cartus Supply Chain Management. School Choice International is proud to be partnering with Cartus in this venture.
